

Nr . . . 7 . . . . . z dn. . . . . 193 r.
1 KW. 1939

MISS JULIET

The Teatr Narodowy gave on March, 26, a very attractive matinée, presenting Miss Juliet, a one-act tragedy by A. Strindberg. This performance was a new success for Irena Eichler, who impressed the audience by an unusually truthful and moving picture of the heroine's change from a capricious young girl into a woman, tragically experienced by life and fate.

The tragedy was produced by Erwin Axer. The remaining rôles were filled by such competent actors, as Zofia Małynicz and Stefan Hnydziński.